Education and Industry

Dedication

The faculty and students of L-P-O Junior College Jaycee sincerely dedicate the 1963 Jr. College annual to the memory of Leslie Rabe, a great teacher and a friend to all.

Convocations and Early Elections

Barbara Wysocki receives the undivided attention of her audience while she makes a campaign speech.

These are the highly qualified candidates from whom our class officers were chosen. Dave Hundt (standing) is master of ceremonies.

After casting his vote, Ken Zimney leaves the election booth.

Paul Knuth, depositing his ballot, joins these other students in participating in an important part of college life, voting for class officers.

Preparations, Then . . .

Hours of labor are put into transforming the gym to the loveliness worthy of "Autumn Amber."

Diane Hoffman is crowned queen by Dick Mackey as her escort, Dave Hundt, looks on proudly. Dick is filling in for the president of the Student Council who is presently occupied as the queen's escort.

Queen Diane commands her dance to begin.

Her loyal subjects join in to make this Homecoming a great success.

College students know that classwork is most profitable when it is supplemented by carefully prepared assignments and enriched by individual research and wide reading. The pleasant, artistic atmosphere of McCormack Library lends itself to both academic pursuits and leisure time reading.

The Library - Scene

In the carefully selected reference collection, LPO students find answers to most of their questions. Consulting the latest edition of the Britannica is Ron Carpenter. Mike Clinch, Jeff Novak, and Jerry Orlandini have found their authorities in other sources.

The collection of bound and unbound periodicals is valuable to the students who have learned to use guides to periodical literature.

At the circulation desk, JC students borrow rubber stamps and paper clips, get change, ask for the daily papers, buy four-cent stamps, recover lost textbooks, rent typewriters, leave messages, use the staplers and paper punch, appropriate scotch tape, and find "straight edges"--fringe benefits offered patrons by every outstanding junior college library.

of Intellectual Pursuits

Finding materials for special assignments or projects are Carol Matthis, Verna Auchstetter, and Jim Gorgal.

Through the triple doors at the main entrance to McCormack Memorial Library, LPO students come and go (by request and by choice)--individually and collectively--in the course of each day. From the arrival of the morning newspapers during zero hour until well into the eighth period, the resources of the library are available to JC students.

Chorus Has Funfilled

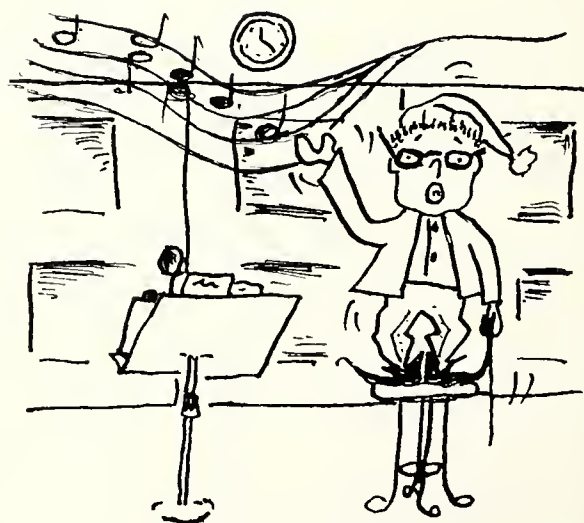

For the first time this year, choir officers were elected. They are, left to right: Bernie Biolchini, vice president; Ruth Nealand, secretary; Ken Zimney, president; and Bill Martin, treasurer.

An indispensable person in a good choir is, of course, a capable accompanist. Lloyd Giesler certainly fills this role very well.

Mr. Robert Manahan, director of the Collegiate Chorale, encourages his students to develop to the utmost of their ability. The annual Christmas Concert and the operetta "Bye Bye Birdie" proved to be great successes.

Chorale

Kathy Novlan, this year's editor, has a big job making sure that each member of the staff meets the deadline.

Mr. Waltman, the adviser of the annual staff checks over last minute details.

Busy Staff Edits

Above, Cheryl Ajster and Ruth Nealand work diligently to record the activities of the year.

The assistant editor, Janet Wagner, keeps long and tiring hours as she makes a final check on her pages. To the right, Sheila Oddo strives to make the annual a success by composing pages of activities.

Mary Kowalski adds her artistic touch to the annual. She created the beautiful artwork used throughout the book.

Another Fine

These Senior girls are in charge of the organization of the Senior section. They are Sharon Mason, Dian Lechner, and Mary Alice Quick.

Without photographers, our annual could not exist. We have three, John Benedict, Jess Theodore, and Bernie Bernardi, to whom our annual is indebted.

Jaycee

Jean Fairley, Donna Skerston, and Georgia Rottner do a beautiful job in presenting the Freshman section.

Marilyn Olszewski and Lynn Harbeck spend many hours making appointments to take faculty pictures.

Radio Club

Beware all who enter here! Mr. Laverne Waltman, adviser of the Radio Club, points to a warning sign on the door leading to the radio room.

Mr. John Willard is in charge of all equipment in the radio room. In addition to the broadcasting equipment, this consists of projectors and other audio-visual aids.

Thanks to Don Corrigan, many of the programs which our Radio Club put on every morning are carried through successfully.

Marilyn Olszewski is in the process of interviewing Dick Alleman, Kent Lasik, and Jack Springer.

Other members of the Radio Club are Dick Mackey, Paulette Di Crispino, Judy Wallner, and John Dow. They must record ten minute programs which are broadcast on WLPO.

Student Council

Senior Members

Officers

The many duties of the officers always keep them busy. This year's officers are: Dave Hundt, president; Ruth Nealand, secretary-treasurer; Sharon Mason, parliamentarian, and Dick Mackey, vice-president.

Freshman Members

The freshman members of the Student Council are: Front row: Barbara Fredrick, Ruth Nealand, Georgia Rottner and Janet Wagner. Back row: Lloyd Pletsch, Craig Kassabaum, Dick Anderson and Bill Martin. One half of the Student Council members live within school district 125, while the rest are chosen from outside it.

Mr. Wayne Zumwalt, adviser to the fraternity, takes time out to enjoy a cup of coffee.

Lambda Pi Omicron

Beanies, beanies everywhere . . . Blue beanies are a common sight around the campus during the nine week pledge period.

Fraternity Activities

A few years ago, Lambda Pi Omicron was organized by some men of the junior college to fill a void in the social life of men of the college.

This year, it sponsored many activities which provided a healthy outlet for the energies of the college men. One of the fraternity's first projects was a clothing drive for the hospital in Dixon. During the first of two dances sponsored in the first semester, pledges received their beanies amid some ceremony. Members accompanied the sorority to a Christmas party for the children in the orphanage in Princeton. Caroling at area hospitals was a joint effort of the fraternity and the sorority.

In 1963, dances and a co-rec night were also very successful.

Guess who's clowning around, right, at an early year fraternity dance? Why it's John Dow, of course.

Dances sponsored by the fraternity during the course of the year were well attended by students of the college. The evenings were spent dancing to the strains of various bands. The girls' gym became the scene of much activity.

Officers of the sorority are certainly kept busy. They are: Carol Marsh, vice president; Donna Skerston, historian; Jane Segatta, treasurer; Dian Lechner, president; Sheila Oddo, parliamentarian and Sharon Mason, secretary.

Miss Mary Weeg, adviser to the sorority, is always ready to extend helpful advice.

Sigma Pi Epsilon

Sorority Activities

In response to the need of an active women's organization, Sigma Pi Epsilon was formed early this year with membership open to all women of the junior college. The Greek letters of the title signify the social, philanthropic, and educational efforts of the sorority. Approximately fifty women are now members.

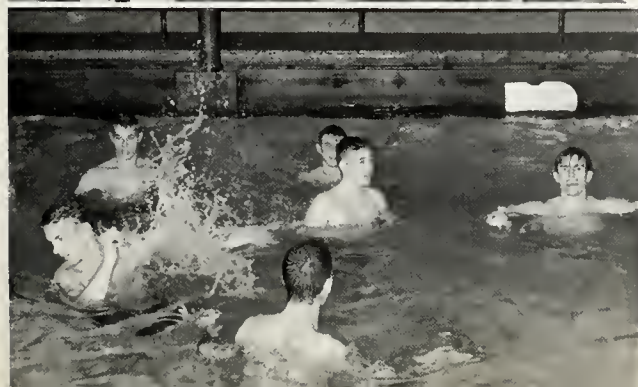

Activities in 1962 included a very successful co-rec night and the distribution of Thanksgiving favors to area hospitals. After Christmas caroling in the hospitals, all enjoyed a social gathering. Proceeds from a candy sale paid for a Christmas party at the Princeton orphanage.

In 1963, sorority members and dates took an educational trip to Chicago. Proceeds of a Valentines Day Dance went to the Wilmot Fund and the Heart Fund. There was also another successful co-rec night.

Anne Krogulski, Judy Muller, Paula Ricci, and Donna Skerston are selling, and eating, bakery goods outside the cafeteria at one of the sorority's bake sales.

Below, Carol Matthis, Sharon Gambo, Caroline Soeder and Helen Sexton pause for a moment after making Thanksgiving favors for the orphanage in Princeton.

After many sorority meetings, members were treated to entertainment. At an early meeting, John Rudzinski danced and sang "Kids, Kids, Kids!", accompanied by Carole Torkowski.

A co-rec night, sponsored by the sorority, and fraternity members and other students of the college. Left, a few are enjoying an energetic game of volleyball while others, are taking a refreshing dip in the pool.

Convocations Entertain Us

Frequent convocations for the education and entertainment of the college students are scheduled and directed by the Convocation Committee. Head of this committee is Mr. Wayne Zumwalt; the assistant is Miss Mary Weeg.

In a "sing-along" convocation presented by the students of the College, various groups staged versions of musical trends across the country from New York to San Francisco. A Dixieland band (left) depicts New Orleans. Center, all the cast demonstrate the Twist. Judy Wallner (right) sings "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun."

A highly successful convocation to honor Coach Strell and the basketball team and to arouse spirit in the students was given at the beginning of the season. Cheerleaders Carolee Shields, Sheila Oddo and Janice Kane are leading a spirited cheer.

Christmas Collage

Below, Diane Hoffman, Sheila Oddo, Donna Skerston, Carolee Shields, Judy Wallner, Bernie Biolchini, Mary Helen Bidasio, and Mary Alice Vogel are Can-Can dancers.

Above, Bob Mahnich, Dale Preiser, Lloyd Pletsch, Jess Theodore, Phyllis Gedye, Bill Martin, and Bonnie Burns are reindeer who bring various gifts to a disillusioned Santa Claus.

The "Christmas Collage," composed of two acts, "A Midwinter's Night Scream" and "Beverly Brought the Star," was composed and directed by Jim Gorgal, a student of the College. Some called it the most successful and most humorous convocation ever presented before the students of L-P-O.

Witches who brewed in a frightful cauldron are (right, above) Sharon Gambo, Mary Ellen Liss, and Janet Wojciechowski. Below them are ballerinas dancing to "I'm So Pretty" from "West Side Story." They are Don Latchford, Russ Reed, and Frank Strell. Ken Zimney was also in the scene.

Gypsy Rose Lee, otherwise known as Lloyd Giesler, was so successful in her role that she rated a standing ovation. Noralee Lyons, as a poor old lady, was most suitably a person to inspire pity. Right, stars of the play are Judy Brackman, Don Dinelli, Helen Sexton, John Rudzinski, Janet Wagner and Jim Jordan.

Service Club

Sports-minded men of the junior college were responsible for the birth of the Service Club. Officers above are: FRONT ROW: Fred Hooper, treasurer; Bud Bernadoni, secretary; Don Corrigan, president; and Jerry Bianchi, vice-president. STANDING: Jeff Novak and Jerry Orlandini, sergeants-at-arms; Tony Torres, parliamentarian.

To the left, Bill Bruch, Rich Cobler, and Don Lamps are preparing Christmas baskets to be sent to needy families.

New Organizations

Biological Society

Due to the energetic leadership of Mr. Ed Keiser and the enthusiasm of his biology students, the Biological Society was formed this year. Above, members are: SEATED: Bernie Biolchini and Donna Skerston. STANDING: Dave Hundt, Jerry Harris, Judy Wallner, Bob Moon, and Ruth Nealand. To the right, Mr. Keiser is studying a rare passenger pigeon, recently discovered among a display of old stuffed birds.

Social Room - Momentary Relaxation Between Classes

Students often make excellent, though sometimes vain, efforts to study in the social room. Despite distractions, Don Corrigan, Jerry Baker, and Jim McGraw seem to be concentrating and working fairly well.

Refreshments, such as soda, candy, and cigarettes, can be purchased in the back part of the social room at any time of the day, except when the machines happen to be empty. However, this does not happen too often. Here, the last of the big spenders are Karen Orr, Ed Fitzgerald (behind Karen), Dick Cosgrove, and Chuck Doherty.

The social room is furnished with many attractive pieces of furniture. Taking advantage of the comfortable sofas are Jimmie Callahan, Bob Clark, and Jim Jereb.

The artistically arranged decorations can be seen as the couples get in the mood for an evening of fun.

Mid-Year Hi-Lite

From left to right: Janet Wagner, Jack Moss, Rich Pattarozzi, Don Dinelli, Mary Piletic, Mary Alice

Vogel and Jerry Locke are putting the final touches on the honored guest of the evening.

Sno-Ball

This festive group is making good use of their time by pausing for refreshment.

Honor Students

Announced

Our Students Engage in Various Uncharted Activities

Brian Leach finds his obligations a little more than he can bear. Could he really be serious about jumping?

Jess Theodore has invented a quick way to get from Dalzell to school. He has never once been late on a windy day. George Charbonneau and Joe Gambiani are watching him land.

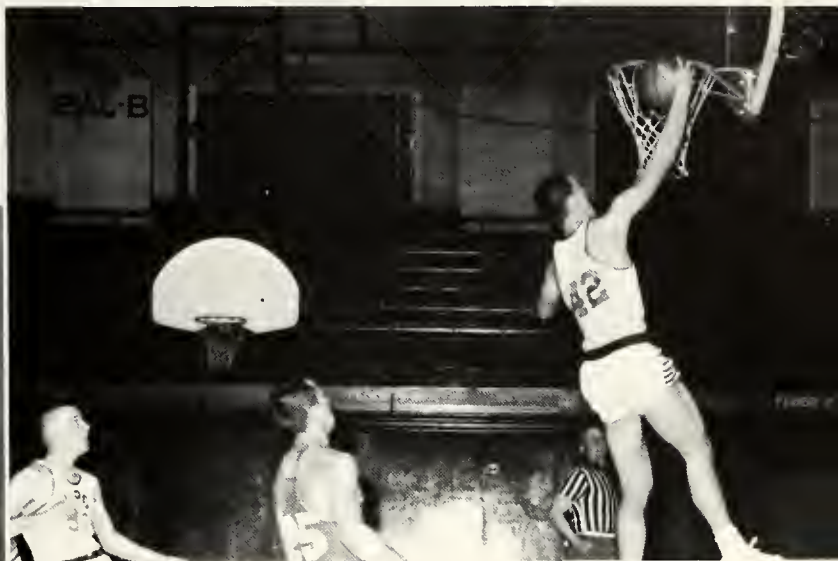

Watch out Janet! Rich Pattarozzi and Janet Wagner must have had a fight.

The Sehcapas

The Sehcapas for the 1962-63 season are: FIRST ROW: Mary Beth Brannon, Dian Lechner, Diane Hoffman, Carol Matthis, Mary Piletic, Mary Helen Bidasio and Penny Mahnich. SECOND ROW: Donna Skerston, Georgia Rottner, Mary Alice Vogel, Bernadette Biolchini, Lynn Harbeck, Janet Wagner and Paula Ricci.

The Sehcapas showed a new face this year when they performed. Their style as well as their uniforms were different. Miss Janet Wagner originated all the dance steps and formations. They danced at four basketball games. Pictured at the right are: Janet Wagner, choreographer; Miss Palmeri, adviser; Donna Skerston, Freshman co-captain; and Penny Mahnich, captain. Miss Tonielli, the second adviser, was absent when the picture was taken.

Featured at Half-Time

Practice, practice, and still more practice! The girls are used to it though for they know it takes a lot of work before a performance. Here is a candid shot of Diane Hoffman, Bernadette Biolchini, Penny Mahnich, Mary Helen Bidasio, Georgia Rottner, Mary Alice Vogel, Paula Ricci, and Janet Wagner, taken during one of their practice sessions.

The Sehcapas are in charge of concessions at the game. Shown here are: Lynn Harbeck, Donna Skerston, Miss Tonielli, and Penny Mahnich selling Kathy Novlan a ticket. The proceeds were used to purchase new uniforms.

Another game, another half, another dance, and now it is all over. Only the memories remain. Regretfully the girls march from the floor after performing their last dance of the season.

Bowling Classes
